The CAC is pleased to introduce its new logo, look and website! Working with branding and design firm Corey, McPherson Nash and web design firm Clearpeak Interactive, the CAC has updated its communications and created a new website to increase access to the CAC's comprehensive, multidisciplinary network of child abuse and sexual assault services.

In designing the CAC's new logo and brochure Corey, McPherson Nash (CMN) strived to capture the personality and spirit of the CAC - a collaborative and child-focused organization serving kids and families in a supportive and compassionate environment. The new brochure provides vital details about the CAC and includes our new tagline, "Healing Starts Here." Visit our website www.suffolkcac.org to find our brochure in English, Spanish, Haitian-Creole, Portuguese and Chinese.

The CAC's new website, built by Clearpeak Interactive, has been designed to be easy to use - and full of helpful information. Throughout the site you will find details about the CAC and its programs, with contact information and links to additional resources.

When a child has been abused, it is hard to know where to turn. We hope that our new site is helpful to you and provides a first step - toward child safety and well-being.
