Working with Adolescent Survivors of Sexual Assault: Challenges, Tools, and Best Practices

*January 14, 9:30-11:00 am
Northeastern University*

Working with adolescent survivors of sexual violence in a hospital setting and in follow-up settings can be challenging because of particular concerns around mandated reporting, and privacy and safety concerns of the survivor and their family or guardians. This presentation will address some of the specific concerns and opportunities for working with adolescent survivors.

Running in the Shadows: Recession Drives Surge in Youth Runaways

"While most runaways opt to stay in their hometowns, some venture farther away and face greater dangers. The farther they get from home and the longer they stay out, the less money they have and the more likely they are to take risks with people they have just met..."

"Pathways Into and Out of Commercial Sexual Victimization of Children: Understanding and Responding to Sexually Exploited Teens"

"The Pathways Project examines pathways into and out of commercial sexual exploitation of children (CSEC) via prostitution and to provide useful information to practice and policy communities. The goal was to understand the victims' perspectives; to identify the factors associated with the commencement of CSEC; to identify factors that surround its maintenance and escalation; and to identify factors that impede or empower exiting from or overcoming exploitative situations."
